RESOLVED, that we mourn for her in humble submission to the divine will and deeply sympathize with the afflicted family in the loss of so devoted a wife and mother.

North Bangor.

The welcome showers have come at last to gladden the hearts of the farmers.

The roof is on the new hotel and the building makes quite an imposing appearance. What will make it the most attractive is that it will be a strictly temperance house.

Judson Gear of Vermont, formerly of Bangor, recently had fifteen cows struck by lightning and killed. It will be quite a loss for him.

Next week Thursday will be the County convention, it is hoped that no man will be so ungallant as to vote against Miss Plumb for school commissioner, she being the first lady that has ever asked for an elective office in the County.

Mrs. Carrie Barnum is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ketcham, at Malone for a week.

Herbert Barnum, wife and son spent the Sabbath with his parents. His father Franklin Barnum is very poorly at this writing.

Mrs. Rhoda Webb came last Friday to join her husband (who is staying with his father, N. Webb) and to visit her many friends in Bangor.

There are quite a number of strangers in town. Our little village with its many attractions will soon be quite a summer resort.
