Walkers Lining Up for the Earth

While politicians campaign for public office in the spring, summer, and fall of 1984, residents around the country will be conducting their own campaign — for the earth. The campaign will center around a "Walk for the Earth, 1984" from California to Washington, D.C., and will span sixteen states and seven months. The walk will include participants from diverse cultures, religion, and organizations, and will be a living illustration of the universal bond that people have with the earth. Press conferences and gatherings on public lands management, Native American rights, the nuclear arms race, and other issues will be held in reservations, parks, and cities along the way. The walk will culminate in a large gathering in the nation's capitol. For more information on the walk, which has been endorsed by the Sierra Club Board of Directors, please contact Doug Alderson, Native Culture and Ecology Research Foundation, Inc., 2311 Mavis Circle, Tallahassee, FL 32301.
