BRAINS AND BRAIN.

In his admirable address before the alumni of Harvard University Wednesday President Roosevelt touched upon the subject of collegiate sports...

When President Roosevelt speaks of collegiate sports as he does on this occasion, therefore, his utterance is that of one in authority.

The second point upon which I wish to speak is the matter of sport. Now I shall not be suspected of a tendency unduly to minimize the importance of sport.

It is a bad thing for any college man to grow to regard sport as the serious business of life.

It is a bad thing to permit sensationalism and hysteria to shape the development of our sports.

It is a bad thing to permit college sport to become in any shape or way tainted by professional or mercenary motives.
