As Grinnell is the only college in the state which has been admitted to corporate membership in the association their selection of Miss Sheldon is a marked honor to her.

—A miniature tornado struck town Saturday afternoon and stirred things up considerably. Trees were broken, branches scattered all over the lawns and several accidents from falling limbs were narrowly averted.

—The Phoenix Cheese Co. plant, where a new boiler house is being built, the wind caught the south wall and completely demolished it. There was considerable twisting up of telegraph and telephone wires but the electric service was not interrupted.

—The repairs to the post office are about completed, and much to the convenience of patrons. A new floor has been laid, steam heat installed and the entire workroom and lobby made over. Heretofore the registry, postal savings and money-order business have all been done through one window.

—With the new equipment a long desk has been added with three new postal saving order, registry and postal savings business. One window will handle the parcel post business. The work has been in charge of Mr. John Wait of this village. —An interesting lecture on "The Geology of Northern New York," will be given at the Tech this evening at 8 o'clock, by Prof. G. H. Chadwick of St. Lawrence University. It will be fully illustrated with lantern slides, and should prove very entertaining. The public is invited to be present.

—It is reported that the New York Central will expend $35,000 in improvement at the Norwood station the coming season. This will include the construction of a yard master's office and an interlocking plant to govern train movements over the Rutland tracks.

—At a meeting of the Potsdam Band held March 10th, Prof. Nelson Taylor was elected as leader for the coming year. It is the earnest endeavor of the Band to give the people of Potsdam concerts through the summer months that are pleasing and entertaining. The program will be published each week.

—The steel tube which conducts the water from the bulkhead to the water wheels of the DeGrasse Paper Company at Pyrites, collapsed one morning last week. No one was injured, but the accident will necessitate the closing down of the mill for about two weeks, while repairs are being made. About 250 feet of the tube will have to be replaced.

—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Cudworth, who died March 10 at her residence in upper Main street, was held from her late home Thursday afternoon, Rev. S. T. Dibble officiating. —The members of the debating team who will represent St. Lawrence University against Colgate in April have been chosen. H. F. Landon '13 of Watertown, was selected as captain and the other members are H. Keeler '15 of New York, and H. E. Foote '15 of Potsdam, with T. F. Canfield of Gouverneur as alternate. The question to be debated is the recall of judicial decisions, the same as that of the recent debate with Cornell, in which St. Lawrence was victorious.

—Adirondack guides state that the deer have wintered in excellent shape and are unusually fat. With plenty of food since last fall and with little snow the deer are now in better shape than in many years. They are feeding through the hills and valleys. A hard snow of four weeks ago confined them to the yards for a few days. In the Big Moose and Cranberry Lake sections there is more snow than in the Saranac Lake region, but in the opinion of the guides the deer have avoided the snow this winter and have wintered where they could roam and feed. Two years ago large numbers of deer were found dead as the result of cold and starvation. The deer prefer to yard in swamps in hard winters. In the far west fires of 1908 a number of the largest swamps were burned over, the cedar growth being killed to a large extent. In the Long Lake and the Raquette river sections the swamps were practically wiped out. It was in these two sections that the largest number of dead deer were found two years ago this spring. In the vicinity of Paul Smiths the deer are now so fat, so the guides say, that they cannot run fast.

—CO-OPERATIVE DELIVERY.

—Merchants Adopt a Modern System.

An arrangement has been about perfected whereby the delivery of groceries, meats and other merchandise will be carried on under a co-operative system.

O. P. Benson, Ed. Lenney and J. D. Regan have been making a trip to several towns where this system is used and they report it as very successful.

Delivering, as done at present, necessitates twelve wagons, twenty men and from 12 to 15 men and boys. Under the co-operative system less than half the equipment will be necessary and at the same time the service will be greatly improved.

Under the co-operatives system the delivery of goods will all be in charge of one man, who will furnish all the equipment and help. The village will be divided into routes, similar to letter carriers' routes, and there will be four deliveries every day on each route. As planned so far, one delivery will start at 8 a. m., one at 10:45 a. m., one at 2 p. m. and one at 4:30 p. m., with an additional Saturday night delivery. Any order received after a delivery has started will go out on the next one, thereby enabling purchasers to know just when their goods will arrive. It is stated that where the system is in good running order, the time of delivery to each house will not vary over ten minutes a day.

In addition to groceries and meat, it will be arranged so that any merchant can make use of the delivery system for his goods by having a wagon on any of its trips.

Much better service will be given to patrons under the new system, and the reduction in cost will ultimately be a direct benefit to the consumer. It is the modern method of doing business, and is a good example of the progressiveness of the Potsdam business men, who have inaugurated the system. As soon as the necessary equipment can be secured the service will commence.

An unusually large congregation attended services at the Universalist church Sunday morning, March 16th. The musical program was of a high order consisting of Prelude by organist Leah Haywood, and two hymns by the choir and congregation; also three solos, "King Ever Glorious" from Stainers Crucifixion, Mr. A. M. Godshall; "Last Seven Words of Christ" DuBois, Miss Edith McCormick, chorister; "Metsiah Victorious," Hammond, Miss Helen Hooper. The sermon by the pastor, Rev. D. L. Fisher, from the text found in John 12: 12-13, was a masterpiece of theological literature. Services appropriate to the day will be held Easter Sunday. All are welcome.

The pastor will preach at both services at the Presbyterian Church on Easter.
