Niagara scored first and the first half was fairly close, Clarkson leading by a few points after the first few minutes of play. The half ended 19 to 12 with the locals at the long end.

HELP THE PIPE ORGAN FUND.

Vaudeville Entertainment Promises To Be Unique.

Preparations are going forward for the vaudeville to be given in the local opera house February 15 and 16 for the benefit of the pipe organ fund at the Normal school. It is desired to place in the chapel of the new school when it is built, the largest and most complete pipe organ in the northern part of the state. This will mean that the school will be one of the best equipped in the village which already occupies a position in this respect in advance of many of the larger cities. The young ladies of the school lately added fifty dollars to the organ fund. There was a small credit before and with this entertainment it is hoped to enlarge it materially.

It is planned to have three separate entertainments the 15th and 16th of February. One from 4 to 6 p. m. on Feb. 15 for pupils entertainment and one each from 8 to 10 p. m. on Feb. 15 and 16, pure vaudeville. After the last entertainment there will be a cabaret lasting from 10 until 12 during which refreshments will be served and there will be dancing. There will be music and acting upon the stage. Tables seating from 6 to 8 persons will be auctioned off to the highest bidder each week before the performance. They will be located at the rear of the opera house auditorium. The entertainment as a whole will be similar to that now running at Keith's Palace in New York City.

Henry Wells Co. will sell you any Cloth Coat or Suit at One-Half Price. Nothing laid away or marked up. 34-1

FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

Will Discuss Lowell's Essay On Chaucer Jan. 25th.

The Literary Section of the Fortnightly Club will hold its regular meeting Monday evening, Jan. 25, at the home of Mrs. Fox, Pierrepont Ave. There will be a paper on Chaucer by Prof. Flagg, and a reading from Lowell by Miss Forsyning. Miss Barrett will give a resume of one of The Canterbury Tales, reading sections from it; a resume of another of The Canterbury Tales will be given by Miss Walling; some short poems—tributes to Chaucer—will be read.

The following topics from Lowell's Essay on Chaucer are offered for discussion:

1. How much credit is due to a translator of a great writer's works?

2. Does it lessen Chaucer's ability as a writer that he borrowed the plots of nearly all his poems from various sources?

3. Explain the following from Lowell's Essay: In him (Chaucer) we see the first result of the Norman yeast on the home-baked Saxon loaf.

4. Why do critics consider the Allegory as a weak form of writing? What makes "The Pilgrim's Progress" an exception to this?

5. Lowell says that Chaucer as a story teller is master of his material, while Shakespeare as a dramatist is mastered by his material. What is the explanation for this?

The ladies of the section are invited to read with Mrs. Keenan Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 20.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a cooked food sale at Mr. Weed's Store Saturday, Jan. 23, commencing at 10 a. m. All who are interested in the non-license campaign are asked to contribute. 34w1

"NewlyWeds" Are Finely Received.

The Daily State Gazette of Trenton has the following on "The Newlyweds" which will appear at the Potsdam Opera House Thursday, Jan. 28: "Presenting a new, nineteen-fourteen model of the original musical success, with a well balanced company, 'The Newlyweds and Their Baby' was finely received at the Trent theatre last evening, when it inaugurated a series of five performances.

"The latest conception, which by the way, is of anonymous authorship, is a combination of original comedy, popular songs and 'The Baby' with the latter predominating, and the piece in its entirety moves a pace that makes it cheery and breezy.

"The main interest, of course, is centered around Harold West, who has the dual role of 'The Baby' and Major Knott Much, and who develops all the complications by not knowing himself when he is the baby and when he is the Major.

"The balance of the company is composed of some capable members of the musical comedy continent, including a class of chorus Misses who are pretty and talented. Charles A. Morgan and Beatrice Evans, 'The Newlyweds' are the embodiment of all that, and John Dwyer and Mabelle J. not do well as the young loving couple. The remainder of the company includes Eric VanDyck, Milton Dawson, Callie Van Vleet, W. C. Batchelor and Charles Betchell.

"There is a good deal of tuneful music unfolded during the course of the performance, and in the rendition of the songs the chorus takes an active part. Some of the principal numbers are: 'I Can't Stop Loving You Now,' 'Big Bashful Doll,' 'One Idea About the Ladies,' 'Back to the Carolina You Love,' 'Boogie, Boo,' 'Sweethearts, Wives and Good Fellows' and 'Can't You See I Love You?' The Brown-Ayer number, which is a hit in itself. The dancing numbers and novelties are quite plentiful.

The costuming of the show is a conspicuous feature, and the mountings are entirely adequate, and considered as a whole, 'The Newlyweds and Their Baby' is a well produced, popular priced musical comedy, and ought to draw big houses to the Trent at each of the two shows today and tomorrow. 34w1
