

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1915.

Mrs. K. A. McIver visited in Waterford last week.

J. S. Taylor of Ottumwa, Iowa, is in town.

A. M. Griffin of Carthage was in town a few days last week.

George W. Barnett has been in New York for a few days.

Miss Theresa A. Crystal has returned to her school in New York.

Mrs. J. H. Arquitt spent the week end with relatives in Clayton.

Miss Barbara Maine of Hermon was the guest of friends in town last week.

Miss Mary Roach was the guest of Mrs. Harlow Tracy at Louisville Landing last week.

Miss Blanche Barnett was home from her school in Rome for the week end.

Mrs. W. T. Hinman left Monday for Albany where she will be the guest of Mrs. E. A. Fay.

Miss Grace Andrews of Edwards was the guest of friends in town over Sunday.

Mrs. G. W. Sisson, Jr., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. F. B. Weed, at Irvington, N. J.

William Tracy is in New York for two weeks where he is attending the annual poultry show.

Miss Janet Macomber of North Bangor spent the week end with her sister Mrs. J. R. Downey.

Mrs. Frances Covey of Market street has returned from a visit with her sister in Schenectady.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jenner have returned after a two months visit with friends in Syracuse and Mexico.

Mrs. K. S. Chittenden returned Wednesday of last week from an extended visit with relatives in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Powers of Worcester, Mass., are spending a week with their son Prof. Powers in Bay street.

Mrs. Harold Brown and little daughter Marjorie of West Parishville spent a part of last week with her aunt, Mrs. George Anstead, in Chestnut street.

A wreck near Antwerp Thursday noon tied up the St. Lawrence division, train 9 due here at 2:43 failing to arrive until 6. Train 4 due at 7:28 was about an hour late.

The electric siren fire alarm signal tried out by the board of trustees last week was deemed unsatisfactory and was returned to the manufacturers. The board is now investigating another type of signal.

Hiter Brothers of this village have recently purchased the McCarrick meat market in Norwood. Sylvester Hiter will manage the Norwood market while Alexander Hiter will remain in charge of the Central Market here.

A glass show case standing outside the entrance to the Lockwood store was broken into Friday night. Three pairs of shoes were stolen. The thief or thieves gained access by breaking the glass at the back of the case and they did a very thorough job of it.

The first meeting of creditors of the Potsdam Paper Mills was held in Ogdensburg before Referee Tuttle Thursday. Fred L. Dewey was appointed trustee, and C. S. Ferris, R. E. Roberts and K. J. Snell appraisers. F. L. Cubley was named attorney for the trustee.

Showboating is a very popular pastime here this winter as is evidenced by the number that are seen making tracks across the fields daily. The sport is not confined entirely to the young people as many grown-ups have acquired the habit and they seem to greatly enjoy this exhilarating outdoor sport.

In 1869 when star gazers noticed the fact that February did not have a single full moon while January and March each had two, the more curious minded figured out that a couple of hundred centuries would roll by before the moon would duplicate that performance. These statistics will prove inaccurate this year for during the month of February the moon will not be full.

L. E. Ginn, formerly of this village, won a $15,000 verdict in a negligence suit before Justice Williams in New York the other day. Charles P. Rogers was injured by a wagon of the Knickerbocker Ice Co. in 1913 and lost a leg. He was then working for the Third Avenue Railway Co. He sued that company too, and they settled for $4,000, making $19,000 in all which he received. Under the present compensation law he would have received a mere pittance compared with what he won in court.

One of the most successful lumbering seasons in the Adirondacks is about to come to a close and some of the camps are breaking up, and as a result woodsmen are coming into the village most every day and are preparing to leave for their respective homes in different parts of the country. Last week the A. Sherman Lumber Co. closed two of their camps, one on the Grasse river, where they have made a cut of about 40,000 stam dards, and the other on the Raquette river, where they cut about 32,000 cords of pulp wood.

It is reported that Hollis L. and Carlton K. Brownell will go to Watertown about April 1st to take charge of the Watertown office of the Maryland Casualty Co., of Baltimore, Md. The business of the Maryland has grown quite rapidly in Jefferson Co. during the past ten years, which makes necessary this change. Mr. L. Brownell and Mr. B. Van Dyke, members of the new Corporation being formed, under the name of L. J. Brownell & Sons, Inc., will remain here to look after the Potsdam office as usual.

Carlos Heath and daughter were in Ogdensburg last week.

Robert Parks of Burke is spending a few days in Potsdam and vicinity visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Smith were guests of relatives in Cornwall last week.

Miss Corinne Gorman of Ogdensburg spent the week with her cousin Mrs. Clinton Hart.

James McIntosh, who has been spending the winter at James Heath's, made a business trip to Ogdensburg last week.

Mrs. C. M. Collins of Bay street spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. Collins. She will spend the week with her mother, Mrs. B. Dupree of Lawrenceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Reynolds of Carthage are rejoicing over the birth of a daughter, born Monday Feb. 15. Mrs. Reynolds was formerly Marie Crowe of this village.

Miss K. Ida Collins and Miss Lillian Collins returned from Saratoga Lake Thursday where they attended the ice carnival. They were guests of Mrs. Wm. Finegan, Riverside Drive.

An informal reception was held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Pellon in Main St., on Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Shelley Holland of Cape Vincent, who has been visiting her daughter Grace and Jessie Shelley who are attending the Normal here. About twenty of her former associates of the Methodist Church and Sunday School were present and an enjoyable time was spent. About 5 o'clock fruit punch and wafers were served.

The small boys, who can detect the coming of spring before older people begin to realize that we are almost in the middle of the last month of winter, according to the almanac schedule, are already playing marbles wherever they can find a spot of good smooth ice or bare ground along the street gutters. When the kids begin the marble game it is a safe bet that the "backbone" of winter, if not actually broken is at least badly cracked.

ROSE L. WRIGHT.

Mrs. Rose L. Wright died at her home in Elm street about 1 Saturday morning after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Wright was born in Hopkinton, March 21, 1859, the daughter of the late George S. Wright. She was a graduate of the Potsdam Normal. She was married to Daniel Wright in 1893.

The funeral was held from her late home yesterday afternoon, Rev. F. B. Cowan of this village and Rev. E. D. Macintosh of Hopkinton officiating. The body was taken to the vault at Bayside. In the spring it will be taken to Hopkinton for interment. No near relatives survive.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

FROM ONE WHO HEARD MRS. CATT

Editors Courier and Freeman.

In her letter to your paper, published February 10th, Mrs. Catt makes the statement that she "did not insinuate that moss was thicker in St. Lawrence Co. than in other sections of the State, and most assuredly did not say or imply that the North Country had an undue share of illiteracy."

I was present at the dinner and sat within ten feet of the speaker. As I had at one time given some attention to matters of illiteracy, statistically presented I was rather forcefully struck by what she said on the question of the illiteracy of St. Lawrence Co. as compared with that of the lower East Side in New York, the home of a large part of our immigrant population.

The comparison she made was not in favor of St. Lawrence County, and on that point I should be willing to testify.

Moreover, every person with whom I have spoken, of those present at the dinner, had the same impression as myself—that the speech was through out intended to be in disparagement of St. Lawrence County.

The motive that seemed to me most probably was the rather poor success of the speaker's propagandist visit there, and a desire to get back at her own country where, as proverbially, the prophet had had no honor.

As the writer in the Normal Magazine said, the address was not persuasive from a suffragist standpoint. The friends of that cause should take an interest in Mrs. Catt.

Musical Comedy Coming.

Manager Barnett has secured Feldman and Christie's musical comedy company of 20 people for an engagement of three days, at the Opera House Feb. 25, 26, and 27.

This company's policy is high class musical comedies at popular prices, changing the program nightly. The seat sale opens Monday next at Westons. Here is a clipping from the Ogdensburg News of Feb. 8th:

"The week's engagement of the Feldman and Christie Musical Comedy Co. at the Opera House opened last night with the clever two-act play 'The Lovemakers.' Miss Agnes Geary playing the part of Kate Russell was certainly worthy of all applause accorded by the audience. Miss Geary is an accomplished singer and an exceedingly clever dancer. Her singing and dancing went far to make the production a success. Frank M. Christie, as the dyspeptic General Preston, was fine. During the play he executed an eccentric dance which caused the audience to sit up and take notice. Harry Feldman in the role of Tom Preston, son of the irritable General Preston, carried himself worthily.

Miss Geary and Victor Bayard presented a series of the latest dance crazes which brought them back to the stage several times before the applause from the audience ceased. Both Miss Geary and Mr. Bayard are graceful exponents of the dance and their repertoire of the newest dances seems to be inexhaustible.

Nelson Adair, the double voiced singer, rendered several selections displaying to advantage his peculiar attainment. George Thompson delivered a one man talk which provoked a laugh a second.

The chorus with this production is good, and the wardrobe, the songs, and the ensemble movements all new. Each individual member of the chorus seemed especially adapted for the requirement of the piece. 28wt
