

FATHER AND SONS BANQUET IS HELD

REV. FRANK ANDERSON, WATER-TOWN, CHIEF SPEAKER, FRIDAY.

Fifty fathers and sons sat down at the tables last Friday evening at the first Fathers' and Sons' banquet of the Baptist Church. Rev. W. Rodgers, in valuable French Canadian dialect described his great pleasure in being present. Mr. Rodgers' readings were highly appreciated by the men present, and many requests were made for copies of his original poem. The presence of Mr. John O'Brien, President of the Methodist Men's Brotherhood, were also welcomed. He spoke of the work waiting to be done by Christian organizations of men, and expressed a hope that there might be a federation of the Men's League and Brotherhood of the local churches. Professor White of the Normal School, who acted as toastmaster, introduced Mr. Keith Blake as the representative of the sons present, and Mr. Dahlberg as the representative of the fathers. Mr. Blake brought a laugh by delving into history and showing that while it used to be an honor to be known as the Father of one's Country, the Father of the Monroe Doctrine, etc., today it was more popular to be a favorite son, showing that the sons were coming into their own. Mr. Dahlberg spoke very briefly of the comradeship that should prevail between fathers and sons, urging the men and the boys to be better citizens.

After some clever songs by a quartet and a clarinet solo by Mr. McIntyre, Prof. White introduced as the speaker of the evening, Rev. Frank M. Anderson of the First Baptist Church at Watertown. Mr. Anderson won the hearts of all his hearers. Addressing himself first to the boys and then to the fathers, he spoke of what a privilege it was to live in a time when fathers and sons were coming to be such close companions. He urged the Christian duty of protecting the boys of the community from moral danger, and said that the religious faith of today demanded Christian intervention in any part of the recreational or political life of a community where moral issues were at stake. Mr. Anderson's address made a profound impression.

The program concluded with group singing by the men at the tables, and after a benediction by Mr. Dahlberg, the meeting adjourned. It is planned to make the Fathers' and Sons' banquet an annual event in the life of the church, and the success of the first one promises much for the future. The Men's Class of the church is planning an aggressive campaign of work. Mr. Walter Andrew has been elected president of the class, and with Professor White as the leader of the group discussions on Sunday, a thriving organization is assured. Regular meetings of the class are to be held once a month. One of the pleasantest features of these monthly meetings is the singing of the so-called "Scrap Iron Quartette," composed of Perry Nichols and Frank Pemberton, tenors, and Fred Lobell and Walter Andrew, basses.
