Norwood Woman Speaks On Hymns in Cambridge

Norwood — Mrs. Carroll (Louise) Chase of Norwood gave an address at the First Congregational Church, Cambridge, Mass. on Wednesday, Jan. 3. Her topic was "From Psalm Tunes to Hymns."

Mrs. Chase's talk was on the development of church music from singing psalms to our present hymns. By tracing the story of hymnals in the Congregational churches, she showed the 300-year growth of this part of worship service, and by an exhibit of books from historical libraries.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase make their home in Cambridge, but they spend the summer months at Baldwin Heights, Norwood, which was formerly the home of Mrs. Chase's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis J. Fletcher.

At present, Mr. and Mrs. Chase are in Kennebunkport, Me., where the couple will remain until April. Mr. Chase is associated with the Congregational church there. Their address is: Congregational Manse, Kennebunkport, Me.
