LOT OF FISH — Ray Ewart, left of 7½ Willow St. and three companions from Rochester caught these seven great northern pike in the St. Lawrence River last Saturday. The fish measured between 22 and 33 inches and had a combined weight of more than 50 lbs. Ewart, an employe of The Courier and Freeman, was guiding for the other two men, both former residents of this area. They are Art Strader, center, and Ralph and Chuck Barrigar. The men also lost six other pike which, naturally, were a little larger than the above.

Club Celebrates National 4-H Week

In observance of nearly 40 years of service to the youth of the Eben area, the Potsdam Wide-Awake 4-H Club celebrates National 4-H club week, Sept. 30 through Oct. 7.

Potsdam Wide Awake is one of the oldest clubs in St. Lawrence County, organized around 1930, with Mrs. Bertha Brown as leader. Bert J. Rogers, now a member of the First National Bank at Canton, was county agent at that time.

Some of the leaders down through the years, in addition to Mrs. Brown, have been Mrs. Cora Wires, Mrs. John Leete, Mrs. Rose Pharoah, Mrs. Agnes Aldous and the present leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hanson. 4-H as an organization has done much to teach the youth of the community home making and agricultural skills, as well as parliamentary procedures and social graces. There is work and fun for all, done under voluntary leadership.

The past year's projects have included electricity, handyman, crafts, sewing, cooking, home improvement and gardening.

The members took part is demonstrations of their skills at Hannawa Falls, with the Bagdad Bucks 4-H club, during the spring.

Members have enjoyed Valentine, Christmas and Halloween parties with special programs and refreshments. The summer activities have included swimming in the Dufresne's pool, 4-H camp and outdoor cookery, plus baseball games between fathers and sons.

The club had over 70 individual exhibits at the county fair, from which two were selected for exhibition at New York State Fair at Syracuse. As a club, they had a booth exhibit and a parade float entitled "Giving The 4-H Way."

Each member has turned in a completed record sheet for this year's work, which will entitle him to a certificate and pin at the local Achievement Night, which will be Oct. 7, at Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Buffham's.

The reorganization meeting will be held on Nov. 4 at Hanson's. At that time, officers will be elected and a new program arranged for the next year.

nues, would receive $371.5 additional welfare expenditures.

Now the convention has neither the intention nor the necessary revenues. It should certainly not mandate such decisions on us in the lgislature. It should properly defer to the legislature, which will report in October on a seven month study of welfare administration.

As a newspaper editorial said a week or so ago, 'noble sentiments and the drafting of pie-in-the-sky constitutional articles are no substitutes for a sense of values keyed to the state's most urgent needs."

And, I would add, because the Constitutional Convention does not have the responsibility to impose new taxes, it must weigh with unusual care the fiscal implications of every action, particularly the "something-for-nothing, something-for-everyone" proposals advanced by the convention president.

The difference between a polititian and a statesman, you know, is that the politician thinks in terms of the next election while the statesman thinks about the next generation.

We must all be vigilant and be aware of the many items in the proposed constitution which would possibly go so far as to jeopardize our way of life by instituting galloping socalism for normalcy. I am in favor of having the items of importance in it brought up separately and not as a package. I believe, as a package, the voters may vote the constitution as a whole down. This would be regretable as there are several forward seeking articles that would benefit the people of our state. However presently, we can't separate the good from the bad. I urge each and every citizen to study the new constitution and keep abreast of the newspaper articles written on it.

Immunization Clinic

There will be an immunization clinic from 9:30 to 10:30 Oct. 6 at the Colton-Pierrepont Central School. Vaccine for protection against diptheria, tetanus, whooping cough, small pox, polio and measles will be available. Pre-school children who need this protection are invited.

Sewer Plans Call for $62 Fee Per User

Winthrop — Preliminary plans for a sewer district in the Hamlet of Winthrop call for each of the 600 property owners involved to pay about $62 annually.

Stockholm Town Supervisor Clyde Flint pointed out that the figure may actually be less in the final plans because of increased state or federal aid.

The Stockholm Town Board approved the plans for the $303,600 system at a special meeting last week. A Gouverneur consulting engineer made the plans.

Under the proposed district, sewage would be pumped from Winthrop to an existing treatment station in Brasher Falls. The Winthrop District would pay a fee to the Brasher Falls District.

The project would be financed through a bond issue, but it is not known how much or for how long.

in the Bears' opener at Plattsburgh, finished second to thwart the Cardinals bid to sweep the first six places. Junior Vince Mellon, a transfer from Mohawk Valley Community College, finished seventh for Potsdam as the Bears dropped a 19-42 verdict.

Randall and Mellon will carry the Bruin harriers' thin hopes against Oneonta, a small college cross country power in New York State, and an easy winner over a good Plattsburgh squad in its season opener.

Potsdam sophomore Gerry Hobson, hobbled by shinsplints in the Plattsburgh run, may improve the Bears chances if he recovers by Saturday.

Either we're charging too little, or everyone else is charging too much.

There was a time when you could walk into a store, plunk down your hard-earned money, and walk out with the comfortable certainty that you got what you paid for.

Times have changed.

Today there are few products that give you as much as you'd like to get for the price that you'd like to pay.

And perhaps that betrays a certain backwardness on our part.

Because our cars still do.

We at American Motors are putting more into cars than just about anyone else around.

And we're charging less.

Rambler American. The only U.S. car that could stop you from buying an import.

At a price very close to the leading import, the American seats six people instead of four.

It gives you nearly twice as much room in the trunk and more than twice as much engine under the hood.

Like the imports, the American doesn't change its style every year, gets about 20 miles on a gallon of regular gas.

Unlike some imports, it never gives you the feeling that you're driving a toy.

Rebel. America's most underrated car.

The Rebel 550 Hardtop is the lowest priced intermediate sized hardtop in America.[1]

It looks sporty, drives sporty and still gives you all the things that most people buy a car for.

The Rebel—Hardtop, Wagon, Sedan or Convertible, V8 or 6—is everything we think a car should be.

Before you pay more for an intermediate, make sure you get as much.

Ambassador. The car with air conditioning as standard equipment.

Air conditioning has been around for a long time, but so far only a few companies— the people who make Rolls Royce for one—have had the good sense to include it in their cars at no extra cost.

We're another.

We just don't understand why someone should be asked to pay a lot of money for a luxury car and then be asked to pay over $300 more for the luxury of air conditioning.

Introducing the Javelin.

Although we've always had the reputation for making sensibly priced, well-built cars, we never had the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

We'll soon have the reputation for making hot, sporty cars.

The front and rear bumpers on the Javelin are massive. Unlike thin blade bumpers, these give the car a rich, racy look.

The side windows on the Javelin are solid sheets of curved glass, without vents to break up its fast lines.

The Javelin SST comes with wheel discs, special exterior trim, reclining bucket seats and a woodgrain steering wheel, all standard.

And all for a lower price than the other sporty hardtops.[1]

Who can you turn to?

If you have read this far, then we assume you are looking for more honest value than you have been used to getting from the cars you buy.

And that's a happy coincidence.

Because we stand ready to give it to you.
