Potsdam hospital gets accreditation

Central St. Lawrence Health Services has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals(JCAH) according to C. Edward Stevens, Executive Director.

This accreditation, which covers from May 1977 to May 1979, is the result of an on-site survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program (HAP). Accreditation indicates that this facility has chosen to operate according to standards set by JCAH and that the facility has, in the main, met these standards.

The standards, published as the "Accreditation Manual for Hospitals." set forth optimal achievable goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by the Joint Commission's survey.

Central St. Lawrence Health Services is one of approximately 4800 general hospitals throughout the United States that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 7150 hospitals in the U.S.

The Joint Commission's accreditation surveys are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a hospital to be accredited, but health care facilities have sought accreditation because it represents a bench mark of quality that is higher than governmental licensure alone. The chief aim of the Hospital Accreditation Program, one of four such programs under the JCAH umbrella is to help hospitals in their pursuit of excellence and thereby provide a higher quality of care to patients. The program also seeks to recognize, and to identify for the public, those facilities which meet its standards.

The Joint Commission began in 1918 under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons. It was incorporated in 1951 with the support of its present member organizations: the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association. JCAH is a Chicago-based, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization. In addition to hospitals, it has programs for the accreditation of long term care facilities, psychiatric facilities, facilities for mentally retarded and other developmentally disabled persons, and ambulatory health care.

Small talk

BY JUDI BUTLER

Robert Converse of Hopkinton, has been in Potsdam Hospital for two weeks for treatment of a blood clot in the leg. His family hopes he will be home this week.

VISITING FRIENDS

Vivian McAllister, of Smithetown Long Island, has been staying at her Fort Jackson home for a couple of weeks now while visiting friends and relatives in the area. Ida Sheldon of Watertown, has been staying with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Collins and their daughter, Patty of Stonybrook, Long Island visited friends in the Fort Jackson area for a few days last week.

SOCIAL GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Murray of Hopkinton had a social gathering at their home last Sunday evening. Guests from Winthrop, Fort Jackson, Hopkinton, Malone, St. Regis Falls and Brasher enjoyed a home cooked buffet dinner and country music supplied by Gary Murray, Dan LaRock and Bob Rivers, The Murray's niece, Bobbie Folson, 13, sang with the group.

Jane Murray was especially glad to have her grandmother, Selina Newtown of Bangor, present at the party.

VACATION ENDS

Have you noticed how youngsters are fervently lapping up what is left of the summer vacation from school? They are busily trying to cram as much summer fun as possible into these last few days of "freedom."

With visions of homework, algebra and school lunches creeping up on them, that typical summertime "What shall we do" plea turns to "What shall we do first" as they suddenly remember the stores of summer plans they had saved up from April to June last year!

They notice with distaste the Back to School Sales springing up in every department store. Yes, we can remember, it wasn't that long ago that we had that familiar lump growing in our innards at the thought of Back to School Days!

Don't be surprised if you hear someone screaming it next week.
