Cold Carnival Warms Winter

An extremely cold, yet sunny and clear, weekend shone upon the Stockholm-Brasher-Helena area for the 14th annual Tri-Town Winter Carnival. Four days of events, begun Thursday and completed Sunday, broke the mid-winter blahs for many of the residents of this area and those who traveled to the annual affair.

The theme for this year's carnival was "Through the eyes of a child." Chairman for the event was Randy Sundberg and secretary, Joan Powell.

Reigning as royalty this year were Steve Smith and Traci Hinton, while senior citizen king and queen were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Curtis. Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of Brasher Falls, is a senior cadet at West Point Military Academy. Miss Hinton, of Syracuse, was first runner-up in the 1978 Miss New York State Pageant. Among her accomplishments, she is a choreographer, teacher and performer for the Lorraine School of Dance in Syracuse. The Curtises are well-known in the local area for their activity with foster children, and their work in community services.

Bitter temperatures kept many of the spectators of the outdoor events in their cars, with heaters running. The Saturday parade route, for example, was lined with the parked and idling autos of the crowd.

The Malone Rangerettes captured first place in the drum and majorette entries at the parade. A Canadian corps, Les Elites, took second place in that parade category.
