Amish, Town Agree On Buggy Use

NORFOLK—Members of this town's Amish community have reached an agreement with the Norfolk Town Board on the use of their horses and buggies on town roads.

Approximately 35 members of the Amish community met with members of the Norfolk Town Board Jan. 17.

The Amish agreed to travel on Route 56 and Route 56A, the Sober Street Road, in the hamlet of Norfolk; and on the Old Raymondville Road.

In turn, parking places for the Amish vehicles will be provided in the Norfolk business district by the town.

Supervisor Edward Ferguson stated: "I am very satisfied with the attitude of the town and of the Amish. Everybody wants to get along together."

Arrangements are yet to be made with a few property owners in the business district, in order to provide the parking space.

Most of the road damage was said to have come from the steel rimmed wheels during hot summer days. The cost of repairing the damage to these roads has been estimated at $4,500.
