O'Neil Announces State Aid; Potsdam Receives $6,000

Stating that "this legislation provides much needed assistance to towns, villages, and cities across upstate New York," Assemblyman John G. A. O'Neil has announced the adoption of a $79 million package of state assistance to localities.

"This aid package was debated at length earlier this year," O'Neil (R-Parishville) explained. "I'm pleased that agreement has finally been reached, but it is certainly unfortunate that there was such a delay.

"My feeling has been that since the state mandates many programs on local governments we should follow through with this type of funding assistance. What the state mandates, the state should be willing to pay for."

Examples of municipalities in the 112th Assembly District receiving aide include: the City of Ogdensburg $196,642; Town of Potsdam $5,950; Town of Moira $337; Village of Canton $41,935; Village of Chateaugay $1,374; Village of Hermon $1,086; Village of Massena $73,755; and the Village of Norwood $3,142.

From his office in Albany, O'Neil explained that under the various formulas which measure each municipality's need and tax effort, all upstate localities receive some aid.

"Although I tried to have the minimum aid amount increased, some towns will still receive only $200," O'Neil added. He also recalled that an amendment he introduced to increase state aid to town and village roads was defeated last spring.

"With all of the talk going on down here about property tax revaluation, I think taxpayers will be pleased to see this type of state aid," O'Neil commented. "Revaluation alone will not help the actual problem of property taxes. State aid which will lower local governments' operating costs and enable them to hold the line on real property taxes is what people are looking for."
