

ARCOSANTI — A view of Arcosanti, the Arizona "dream city" designed by Paolo Soleri. The community is featured in a photographic exhibition touring the Associated Colleges of the St. Lawrence Valley.

Architects have long dreamt of urban schemes around which to form urban planning. Most of these visionary concepts never get beyond the drawing stage. Of those that do, few move beyond the construction of a limited number of buildings.

Arizona, Arcosanti epitomizes the congruence of ecological and esthetic considerations that are recognized as essential for humane communities. The designer of Arcosanti is Paolo Soleri, an Italian-born architect-ecologist. Arcosanti is touted as "the hope and future of urban design" and as such, has earned a place among the more innovative approaches being conducted today.

The construction of Arcosanti began in 1970 in the mesa country of central Arizona, 70 miles north of Phoenix. When completed, the town will rise 25 stories, cover 13 acres of an 860 acre land preserve, and will serve as a study center for the social, economic and ecological implications of its architectural framework. To date, over 2,500 students and professionals of all ages, races and backgrounds have participated in experiential workshops and seminars, teaching and learning from one another through the building of Arcosanti. As a step toward becoming a lively and diversified urban center, Arcosanti yearly hosts a series of cultural events in both the visual and performing arts. The Arcosanti project was recognized on both state and national levels as an official Bicentennial site. Arcosanti embodies a philosophy called Arcology by Paolo Soleri. "Arcology" derives from the combining of architecture and ecology. Arcology is seen as a societal framework that can give a higher quality to humankind's physical, psychological and esthetic well-being. This philosophy is seen in the design of buildings and in the extensive use of solar energy for heating and food production. Arcosanti is planned for energy and food self-sufficiency.

The photographic exhibition can first be seen at the Potsdam Museum between Nov. 14 and 28, when it is sponsored by Clarkson College. It will then be seen at the Owen D. Young Library at St. Lawrence University from Nov. 30 to Dec. 6. It will last be on view in the Crumb Library at Potsdam College between Dec. 6 and Dec. 13. The exhibition has been arranged by the Associated Colleges of the St. Lawrence Valley.

Bailey, Howlett, Solomon Join Hospital Board Of Directors

Three community leaders were recently named to the Board of Directors of the Canton-Potsdam Hospital. Clarkson College administrator Clark Bailey, Canton Central School Superintendent Stanley Howlett, and WPDJ-WSNM General Manager William Solomon have completed the orientation program provided to new directors, and have begun active service on board committees.

"I know these three men share the feeling of responsibility the rest of us on the board have," noted Chairman James J. Cook, manager of consumer service for Niagara Mohawk. "We are responsible for directing the hospital in providing the best possible health care to our communities, and we won't settle for less."

Bailey, who lives in Hannawa Falls, holds degrees from the U.S. Military Academy (West Point) and the University of Arizona. During his military career, before joining Clarkson, Bailey spent 20 years in the Army Signal Corps and was awarded the Legion of Merit for service in Vietnam.

He is a member and past president of Potsdam Rotary, and on the board of the St. Lawrence County Boy Scout Council. He is on the hospital's Joint Conference Committee.

Howlett, who resides at 33 Waverly St., Potsdam, holds a bachelor's and master's degree from State University of New York at Albany and has completed additional course work at St. Lawrence University. He has been with the Clarkson School System for 23 years. He is a member and past president of Canton Rotary, and past president of the Potsdam Rescue Squad. He serves on the hospital's Finance Committee.

Solomon, who resides on the Bagdad Road in Potsdam, graduated from Western Connecticut State College. With a broad background in promotions and advertising, he joined WPDJ in 1976. He is a director of United Way and a member of Potsdam Rotary, Canton Lions, the Elks, and American Field Service. He serves on the hospital's Comprehensive Health Care and Community Relations Committee.

Stanton Named To Advertising Post

Charles W. Kelly, general manager of Park Newspapers of St. Lawrence, Inc. has announced the appointment of Paul A. Stanton as advertising director for the newspapers.

As advertising director, Stanton will supervise the sales staff for The Courier & Freeman in Potsdam, The Ogdensburg Journal and Advance News, St. Lawrence Plaindealer and the Rural News in Canton, and the Massena Observer.

Stanton, 42, succeeds Kathleen Wade in the position. Mrs. Wade resigned to become industrial development officer for the Ogdensburg Bridge and Port Authority.

Stanton comes to St. Lawrence County from North Muskegon, Mich., where he was classified advertising manager of the Muskegon Chronicle. He served 18 years with the Booth Newspaper Group.

positions is that in Muskegon, the people I directed were in the next room. Here, I'm in charge of salespeople in Potsdam, Canton and Massena, as well as here in Ogdensburg," said Stanton.

Stanton's wife, Kathy, and two daughters will join him in Ogdensburg within the next few weeks.

He has a bachelor of business administration degree from Western Michigan University. In addition to his work in Muskegon, he has held managing positions at the Saginaw (Michigan) News and the Flint (Michigan) Journal.

Kelly, in announcing the appointment said, "Paul's 18 years in newspaper advertising sales will prove most valuable to our advertisers. We are very happy that Paul has decided to join the Park group here in St. Lawrence County. We look forward to working with him."

Views On Dental Health

By JOHN F. CARVILL, D.D.S.

SMOKING AND ORAL HEALTH

You already know that smoking can be instrumental in the cause of bronchitis, lung cancer, emphysema and heart disease. But what does smoking have to do with oral health? It affects your whole mouth in many ways — none of which are beneficial.

By far, the most serious risk is the development of oral cancer. Smokers have a four times greater risk of oral cancer than nonsmokers.

Tobacco in any form can cause cancer of the mouth and throat. So don't think you can avoid cancer by switching from cigarettes to a pipe or cigars.

This year an estimated 24,000 people will be stricken by oral cancer. Within five years many of these people will be dead. Each year, approximately 8,000 people die from oral cancer. One of the reasons for this high death rate is that oral cancer victims do not recognize the need to see their dentist or physician until it becomes too late for treatment to be successful. Yet, ironically, mouth cancer is one of the few varieties that can be easily recognized by a visual diagnosis in its early stages.

Century 21 Named To Top Ten Group

Century 21 Real Estate Franchising Corporation of New York has cited the local affiliate, Century 21 Ablowitz Realty in Potsdam, as being one of the top 10 offices in the Central Northeastern New York area. The area includes 31 counties and 63 offices covering such metropolitan areas as Syracuse and Albany.

Such a designation came as a result of analysis of gross dollar volume from Jan. 1 through Aug. 31, 1981.

Asked about her successful year despite market conditions, Enid Ablowitz, owner of Century 21 Ablowitz Realty, attributed the results to "hard work and the ability to take a motivated seller and a motivated buyer and find creative financing to cement the transaction. Buyers and sellers need a professional and knowledgeable realtor far more than ever before," she said.

The local agency services Potsdam, Canton, and the general vicinity, and has a staff of five full time sales associates: Betty Bokot, Jeannine Austin, Dorothy Petrosky, Joan Dempsey and Connie Myers.

Citrus Fruit Sale Planned

Potsdam Future Farmers of America will hold its annual citrus fruit sale through Nov. 15.

Proceeds from the sale promote FFA and agricultural activities outside of class time. Statewide orders are pooled, and ordered from Seald-Sweet of Florida.
