

Patchwork: West Potsdam Area News

BY MARY ANN MILLER

Last week we had our first snowfall. It made everything look like a Christmas card, but has since melted away.

This week has many men at hunting camp and many folks in hospitals and other things to report.

Friday night at bingo, Barbara Emerson took a huge card around to all the tables and had everyone sign it for Homer McEwen. Homer is still in the Potsdam hospital. The card he received had over 150 signatures.

Wednesday morning Helga Stuart was taken by the Norfolk Rescue Squad to the Potsdam hospital. She is suffering severe back problems. Ric and I went down to see her that evening and then stopped to visit Homer McEwen. At this time Helga's daughter, Ellen, will come and take Richard back with her and care for him until Helga mends.

At Homer's bedside we discovered George Deon, who was visiting Homer. George looks great, said he's still working shifts. Has to return to the hospital periodically for tests, but other than that, is doing just fine. As for Homer, he is still with oxygen at all times and feels weak. He managed a big smile when I asked if he'd received a big card. He told George all about it. His wife, Mae, had taken the card home and so he couldn't show it to George.

Wendy Corbine is not in the hospital but has been a very sick young lady. She has a bad case of chicken pox and strep. Wendy is covered with chicken pox and I know it's not nice to laugh at people, but I laugh when I think of her covered with chicken pox. And she'd laugh if it was me. Thank goodness I've had chicken pox already.

I felt rather dumb when Lee Pierce stopped and told me of Ed Powell, my next-door neighbor. Ed had heart problems last week and I never knew it. Ed is home now and plans to stay open for business, and will be, by the time this is read.

And last but not least, I stopped at Roberta Evans' to order my crate of eggs. Daughter Terri was in the Potsdam hospital undergoing tests. Roberta also said that Bill Neagle is at Crouse Irving Hospital in Syracuse with back problems. Paul Evans was in Syracuse attending a four-day insurance meeting. Paul is director for the St. Lawrence County Farmers Insurance. Wonder if Paul was planning to visit Bill while there?

Nov. 12 there were two area couples celebrating anniversaries. Stretch and Mary Berger have been married 21 years.

Kenneth and Dorothy Friedel celebrated their big 40th happy anniversary.

Shirley Lumley held a jewelry party at her home Monday evening. The jewelry is all displayed and priced and you just walk around and pick out the items you want. Shirley had her woodstove going and a houseful of people. Everyone there can tell you what good heat wood gives out. She also had goodies to eat and it was a good evening.

Winnie Tyler had a candy party at her home Wednesday afternoon. Joanne Gadoway of Norwood was the demonstrator. I didn't go to that one, but Winnie said it was fun.

Carol Blanchard had a clothing party at her home Wednesday evening. Didn't make it there either as I had other commitments.

Talked with Rosemary Sanford and she will have meeting time and place for the starting of the 4-H club next week. She'll be calling past members and invites all interested young folk to get to the meeting so they can get organized.

Nov. 17 at 7 p.m. we must all watch channel 7 and the Ward Hamilton show. Members of the Norwood Firemen's Band will be featured. According to Tim Donahue the men wore their uniforms and had a great time being interviewed. They'll talk of their trip to Washington D.C.

A reminder of the blood clinic this week. It is to be Nov. 17-18-19 at the Presbyterian Center.

Jack and Joretta Creighton have company. Jack's aunt, Hazel Fitzgerald of Peterborough, Ont., is visiting. She is enjoying visiting old friends and relatives.

The ladies auxiliary held their regular meeting Wednesday evening at the fire station. They assigned chairmen for the many banquets coming up and did tons of business. They planned the surprise gift for the firemen to be presented at their annual banquet Dec. 12. The women are so excited this time that it's difficult to keep a secret. Have we got a surprise for them. For the second meeting in a row, Betty Grant, the secretary, has recorded in her notes that Agnes Borno was on good behavior. Agnes, as all those who know her, can make life interesting and so it is recorded that for two whole meetings she has been on her best behavior.

I should mention that I planted the horseradish as Gardening for Food and Fun which is the 1977 Yearbook of Agriculture. Veteran's Day. Mary Kathryn was home and we decided to face the mud in the garden and dig the horseradish. Wow, I know why tractors get stuck. I couldn't pick up my feet as the mud sucked up my shoe and I stood there on one foot with no shoe and it stuck in the mud and Mary

Kathryn laughing at me. I then laughed at her as she just slid backwards from me. We had a messy time of it but made some fun from it. Had to. Anyway, the horseradish grew as the book said it would. I planted the root lying sideways and cut off new suckers after the plants branched out. Usually I peel and put the pieces in the blender on the back porch as the stuff is so strong it drives you from the house. This year it was too cold to do that so I was driven from the house. Ground up about four quarts of it and it is so good. It should be as if literally did drive me from the house. In fact my eyes were still red the next morning. I wonder how a horseradish factory does it? Workers must all wear gas masks.

Our most sincere sympathies to the Werner Fahler family as they have lost son, Werner, Jr.
