Seaway Planning Report Issued

This group was composed of regional representatives from local governments, industry and shippers. It was co-chaired by Sen. Mark Andrews and represemntatives Henry Nowak and Carl Persell.

The Seaway Strategic Plan entitled "Staying Competitive in the 21st Century" contains a number of recommendations concerning marketing, financing and infrastructure.

Secretary Dole said, "I am particularly encouraged the report called for greater involvement of Great Lakes states, counties, cities and businesses in the Seaway. It is this kind of effort from Great Lakes public and private sector leaders that will help the Seaway reach its full potential."

Secretary Dole indicated that, "The Planning Group's recommendations will be considered very carefully and will be quite useful in dealing with future issues affecting the Seaway."

Seaway Administrator Emery expressed his appreciation to the Secretary for appointing the elite 18-member group to study the future of the Seaway and called the final report a "magnificent job."
