Harvard Edges Knights To Stay Perfect

Playing at home for the first time in over a month, the Clarkson University hockey team split a pair of ECAC games at Walker Arena last weekend.

On Friday, Clarkson opened a six-game homestand with a convincing 4-1 victory over the Dartmouth Big Green. The following evening, Harvard Crimson, the number one ranked team in the country, rolled into Potsdam and dealt the Knights a 4-1 loss.

With the second meeting against arch-rival St. Lawrence University coming up Saturday in Potsdam, Clarkson finds itself one game below .500 with an 8-9 overall record and a 5-6 ECAC slate.

Second-year head coach Cap Raeder is looking forward to the remainder of the schedule and the chance for the team to improve its record. "We have suffered through our youth and now it is time for our experience to pay off," said Raeder.

"We need to mature and learn from our mistakes. The remainder of the season is crucial. At 5-6 (in the ECAC) we have a long way to go, but the schedule is certainly in our favor (with seven of 11 games at home)," added Raeder.

Clarkson snapped a four-game losing skid with its victory over Dartmouth. The Knights jumped out to a four goal lead over the Big Green with two markers in each of the opening two periods.

Junior Jean Rouleau scored first with his third goal of the season at 7:40 in the first stanza. Linemates Ron Reagan and Paul Donovan assisted.

After that, Clarkson's "North Country Connection" went to work to help lead the Knights to their ninth straight win over the Big Green.

Junior Steve Williams, from Winthrop, scored his 18th goal of the season on a powerplay at 15:06. Reagan, a freshman center from Potsdam High School, tallied off assists from Williams and Jeff Korchinski at 12:17 of the second period to put the Knights up 3-0.

With five minutes left in the period, junior Rodger Hulatt, from Norwood, scored Clarkson's final goal with linemates Williams and Luciano Borsato assisting.

Dartmouth's Jamie Hanlon spoiled freshman goalie John Fletcher's bid for a shutout when he scored a short-handed goal at 2:34 in the third period.

The Knights outshot the Big Green 33-23. Fletcher posted 22 saves in picking up his fifth career win.

After a fast-paced, penalty free, scoreless first period, unbeaten Harvard struck for two goals in the second stanza and added another score early in the final period to take a 3-0 advantage over Clarkson.

The Crimson, with the ECAC's most prolific powerplay, tallied their first goal, on the man-advantage, when C.J. Young connected at 5:03 in the second. At 16:41, Nick Carone slipped behind the Knights' defense and broke in from the blueline on a breakaway, beating Fletcher with the eventual game-winner.

After Tod Hartje gave Harvard a 3-0 lead 1:53 into the third period another one of Clarkson's North Country skaters scored to bring back life in the Walker Arena crowd.

At 5:05, sophomore Matt LaLonde, from Potsdam, tallied to give the Knights their only score. Mark Tretowicz assisted. Peter Chiarelli closed out the scoring with the Crimson's fourth marker with 1:36 remaining.

Both teams produced 30 shots on goal, with Fletcher stopping 26 shots.
